EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The Annual Report for State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2005 contains information on the activities conducted by the State of Kansas with the Edward Byrne Memorial State and Local Law Enforcement Assistance Formula Block Grant Program (BYRNE). The Kansas Criminal Justice Coordinating Council (KCJCC) oversees the criminal justice federal funding made available to Kansas through the U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, Bureau of Justice Assistance. The KCJCC was created by the 1994 Legislature.

The Council's members are statutorily appointed and include the Governor or designee, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court or designee, the Attorney General or designee, the Secretary of Corrections, the Superintendent of the Kansas Highway Patrol, the Commissioner of Juvenile Justice Authority and the Director of the Kansas Bureau of Investigation. The Governor's Grants Program provides the staffing to the KCJCC and day-to-day management of the federal grants.

The KCJCC developed strategies and approaches to prevent, as well as control, violent and drug-related crimes in Kansas. The Byrne Grant Program assists the state in implementing and enhancing its efforts in addressing these issues. For State Fiscal Year (SFY) 2005, the Council's four main priorities are enforcement; treatment; and prevention of drug-related crimes, violent and juvenile crime; and technology to continue efforts to improve the criminal justice information system.

The KCJCC awarded a total of $6,143,410 to 79 grant projects in the four program areas for SFY 2005. The following table identifies the number of grant projects and funds awarded to each program area.

SFY 2005 Priorities	Number of Grant Projects	Federal Funds Awarded	Percentage of Total
Enforcement	19	$1,182,948	19%
Treatment	12	$1,259,883	21%
Prevention	16	$ 810,943	13%
Information Technology	32	$2,889,636	47%
Total	79	$6,143,410	100%

During the grant period, Governor Kathleen Sebelius requested the KCJCC provide $60,000 to the Wichita Police Department to assist with its cold case investigation into the Bind Torture Kill (BTK) serial killer. The pain the BTK killer inflicted on the Wichita community was incomprehensible. The investigation consumed a lot of the police department's financial resources. In addition to helping the police department, the grant award assisted the Sedgwick County Forensic Science Center and the Kansas Bureau of Investigation with their on-going expenses. On February 26, 2005, Dennis Radar was arrested in connection with the cold case investigation. On June 27, 2005, he confessed to the crimes. And, on August 18, 2005, BTK serial killer Dennis Rader was sentenced to 10 consecutive life sentences for a string of murders that terrified Wichita for decades.

At the November 4, 2004 KCJCC meeting, the Council approved a request by Governor Sebelius to form a task force of local and state law enforcement officials, members of the judicial system, and treatment and prevention specialists to address the methamphetamine/drug enforcement issues at the local level with Kansas Highway Patrol Col. William Seck and Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI) Director Larry Welch co-chairing the task force.

The Kansas Task Force on Methamphetamine and Illegal Drugs' role is to develop new ideas and strategies regarding education and training, treatment, enforcement and legislation regarding meth. The task force's main goal in its first year was the passage and signage of the Sheriff Matt Samuels Chemical Control Act, Senate Bill 27. The bill was named in support of Greenwood County Sheriff Matt Samuels who was killed in January 2005 while serving a search warrant at a home he did not know was the site of an active meth lab. On April 15, 2005, Governor Sebelius signed SB 27 into law.

SB 27 makes any compound or mixture containing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine, except for the liquid or gel capsule form, schedule V controlled substances. The new law requires consumers to provide a photo id showing their date of birth and sign a log prior to purchasing over-the-counter cold medicine containing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine. The law also restricts a consumer from purchasing four or more packages or containers of ephedrine or pseudoephedrine within a seven-day period.

* Represents seizures from January 1, 2005 to November 1, 2005.

The task force has hosted two Meth Summits. The first summit was May 17, 2005 in Topeka and the second summit was December 7, 2005 in Salina. Summit presentations included the medical impact on meth users; treatment for meth users; a panel discussion by former meth users; an overview of federal, state and local efforts to combat meth; Kansas and Oklahoma legislation and their impacts on meth; education and prevention efforts; and the affects of methamphetamine on children who have been exposed to it.

Enforcement, treatment, and prevention of drug-related crimes, violent and juvenile crime and information technology to continue efforts to improve the criminal justice information system were the Council's priorities for SFY 2005. Below is a list of the programs eligible for funding in the four priorities and brief descriptions of some programs that received funding during SFY 2005.

Enforcement funding focused on programs that:

- Target enforcement through the use of multijurisdictional drug task forces, prosecution and the enhancement of the criminal justice system's response to illegal drugs, especially methamphetamines.
- Improve enforcement, prosecution and the criminal justice system's response to violent and juvenile crime.
- Understand the connection between violent and juvenile crimes to drug and substance abuse.

The largest drug task force in Kansas is the Southeast Kansas Drug Enforcement Task Force. The Kansas Bureau of Investigation coordinates the task force which consists of 20 agencies including sheriff's departments, police departments, prosecutor offices and the Kansas Attorney General's Office. The task force coordinates with the Midwest High Intensity Drug Trafficking Area (HIDTA), the United States Attorney's Office and the Kansas National Guard Counter-Drug Special Operations Group. Funding also supported several other task forces and narcotics-related investigations and arrests. Enforcement funding also supported an alternative to detention, jail and prison for persons who pose no danger to the community; provided additional vocational training opportunities for juvenile offenders and increased the number of juvenile offenders who participate in vocational training programs; and purchased video conferencing systems to reduce delays in court appearances for adults and juveniles and decreased the amount of time deputies spend driving to court.

Treatment funding focused on programs that:

- Develop treatment options to address drug use by offenders in correctional facilities and in communities.
- Develop treatment options for violent crime, child abuse, family violence, juvenile crime and gang activity offenders.

During SFY 2005, the grant funds were provided to a variety of treatment programs including the Franklin County Sheriff's Department to assist with the continuum of mental health and substance abuse assessment, treatment and after-care services for adult and juvenile offenders detained in the County. Funding also supported a Day Reporting program, which provides well-rounded professional drug/alcohol treatment services to identify and address a broad range of psychological, social, drug and alcohol-related problems while allowing adult offenders to maintain regular family and employment roles; a methamphetamine specific treatment program to decrease recidivism and appropriately address the needs of offenders who use/abuse methamphetamine; an intensive outpatient treatment program to divert offenders with co-occurring disorders from further involvement in the legal system.

Prevention funding focused on programs that:

- Provide education to improve the public's response to illegal drugs
- Provide education efforts to prevent violent crime, child abuse, family violence, juvenile crime and gang activity.

The KCJCC defines prevention as the active process that creates and rewards conditions that lead to healthy behaviors and lifestyles. The Council's goal is to support prevention efforts that lead to a safer Kansas. A variety of prevention programs received BYRNE funding including the Gray County Attorney's Office to recruit, hire and train a forensic interviewer specializing in interviewing child witnesses and victims to increase the ability of rural jurisdictions to effectively resolve child sexual abuse cases by providing training to rural law enforcement officers; the Sunflower House to provide child-sensitive and legally defensible forensic interviews of children in child sexual abuse or physical abuse investigations; and the Kansas Department of Corrections to improve notification services to crime victims in Kansas and reduce the risk of creating new victims by assisting offenders in understanding the impact of crime on the victim and the community prior to their release.

Information technology funding focused on programs that:

- Continued efforts to enhance and improve record-keeping and data management systems, as well as the state criminal justice information system.

The largest information technology grant was awarded to the Douglas County District Attorneys Office for the development and implementation of the Kansas Prosecutors Case Management System (KPCMS) for county and district attorneys' offices. The prosecution module of FullCourt was modified to be a Kansas-specific module for Kansas prosecutors. Several subgrantees received grant awards to continue the implementation and integration of the Kansas Criminal Justice Information System (KCJIS). This program provides a standard system to ensure that data is collected uniformly using a common format. In addition, information technology grants funded automated fingerprinting equipment, multi-jurisdictional records and jail management systems, video equipment to enhance crime scene photography and investigations, a drug and alcohol deterrence program for juveniles and a drying cabinet to improve the collection and preservation of drug and biological (DNA) evidence.

Grant Project Highlights:

Ford County Sheriff's Office increased the arrests of anhydrous ammonia thefts, developed more informants, targeted dealers with counter surveillance and prosecuted more drug cases. The Sheriff's Office purchased thermal imagers and trained deputies on the new devices. Deputies have used the imagers on several occasions watching not only anhydrous tanks but also targeting suspected meth cook operations in continuing investigations. The imagers have proven to be a huge asset to the Sheriff's Office. The surveillance platform has been used several times on intelligence gathering, video and audio recording of buy operations. One case has been presented to the U.S. Attorney's Office for indictment. The anhydrous thefts have been reduced in Ford County.

The City of Brewster participated in the Quad County Task Force to increase the detention and apprehension of drug offenders in the Quad County operational area by 10 percent; maintained the gathering, reporting, and analysis of intelligence data relating to trafficking in narcotics and dangerous drugs; and encouraged public participation in identifying drug offenders through community policing methodology. During the grant period, the task force conducted 91 investigations, 85 arrests and 77 cases were prosecuted. Drugs seized had a street value of $4,581,907.

Wichita Police Department investigated and captured the BTK serial killer who frightened the Wichita community for decades. On February 26, 2005, a suspect was arrested relating to the cold case investigation. On June 27, 2005, the suspect confessed to the crimes. Wichita Police Department successfully met the grant project goals and objectives.

Riley County Attorney's Office operated a Teen Court program which provides timely sanctions following the arrest of young offenders; ensures that young offenders are held accountable for their illegal activity; increases public appreciation of alternatives to the legal system; encourages greater respect for the law among youth; promotes volunteerism among adults and youth; uses positive peer pressure to reverse attitudes toward high-risk behavior; and when appropriate, refers offenders to Life Skills programming in an effort to address underlying issues for juvenile crimes. During the grant period, 100 percent of the youth referred to the Teen Court were referred within seven days of receiving their police report; 93 percent of the youth who appeared in Teen Court appeared within three months of their arrest date; 88 percent of the participants in the program will successfully complete their sanctions within the length of time they were assigned, 88 percent of the youth who participated in the program completed their community service; 10 percent of the youth who have completed the program in the last year have re-offended.

The KBI provided a training session on the Kansas AMBER Alert program for KBI and Kansas Highway Patrol law enforcement officers. These officers then trained their local law enforcement and media on how to respond to an AMBER alert. In addition the KBI printed and distributed 10,000 wallet cards, 300 media posters and 800 law enforcement posters. The KBI also made and distributed 500 AMBER Public Training Tapes, 800 AMBER law enforcement training CD's and 150 AMBER law enforcement training VHS tapes to law enforcement agencies throughout the state. During the grant period, the Kansas AMBER Alert system was activated four times. In all four of the situations, the children were recovered safely.

Funding is available for programs that identify and meet the treatment needs of adult and juvenile offenders.

Program Accomplishments:

The 12 subgrantees provided 2,486 offenders with treatment. Of these 2,486 offenders, 436 offenders were successfully discharged from treatment.

Grant Project Highlights:

Johnson County Department of Corrections provided a long-term in-patient substance abuse treatment program to chronic substance abusers to reduce their rate of recidivism through criminogenic intervention. The project goals were met through the minimum availability of 30 residential beds for use in the Therapeutic Community program, as well as the availability of open-ended aftercare groups for program graduates. Graduates often attend aftercare well after release from the requirements of probation supervision. Of the 38 graduates during the grant project funding period, three graduates (eight percent) have re-offended, four (11 percent) have shown evidence of relapse and 34 (89 percent) continued to attend aftercare at the Therapeutic Community.

The 25th Judicial District Community Corrections' Day Treatment Center (DTC) offered a safe and secure learning environment to students who are long-term suspended from USD 457 School District. The DTC provides a curriculum-based education to achieve the district's standards and benchmarks in math, reading and science. The students also attend reading improvement, physical education, drug/alcohol treatment and life skills and job readiness classes during the regular school day. Additionally, students have taken field trips, had guest speakers from the community and completed community work service projects. DTC provided services to 143 students and 37 of them were successfully discharged from the program. Assessments of the students in the program indicate across the board increases in math and language arts. Students are assessed upon entrance into the program. For math, no students are failing and the cumulative grade point average for those 20 active students is 2.75.

Kansas Department of Corrections' Therapeutic Community (TC) treated medium custody offenders housed at Hutchinson Correctional Facility. The TC treatment model helps offenders overcome addictive, anti-social, and other deviant behaviors. During the grant period, 512 offenders received treatment and 79 offenders successfully completed the program. At the end of the grant year, five graduates from the TC reached the one year anniversary of their release. Of those five individuals, three remain drug and crime free and two have had violations for substance abuse. All TC participants complete educational components and activities including individualized treatment tasks during the Treatment Phase. Issues addressed include, but are not limited to substance abuse/chemical dependency education and relapse prevention; social skills development; anger management; parenting skills; healthy living (nutrition, exercise, spirituality, relationships, etc.); goal setting and planning; responsibility and work force preparation. Participants also work directly with TC staff to identify immediate, intermediate and long-term needs upon release related to housing, job placement, social services, medical providers, mental health providers, vocational services and/or training services, support network accessibility, as well as basic needs acquisition (food, clothing and personal hygiene items).

Funding also is available for programs that provide proven prevention and education curriculum targeted at children, youth and community groups. Programs that enforce child abuse and neglect laws, as well as family violence and which also promote the prevention of such crimes also are eligible for funding.

Program Accomplishments:

The 16 subgrantees provided services to 10,924 victims and trained 6,991 individuals.

Grant Project Highlights:

Johnson County District Attorney’s Office provided a forum for the White Collar Crime Unit to educate, assist and facilitate proactive strategies and procedures within the business community to prevent and uncover White Collar Crime; coordinates thorough and effective multi-jurisdictional investigations; and works to promote the prosecution of white collar crime by expanding the scope of exiting statutes and enhancing applicable penalties. The White Collar Crime Unit conducted several trainings to law enforcement, the business community, members of the general public and the elderly. The Unit has helped develop a network of financial fraud detectives in Johnson County which has benefited the community by increasing the number of successful prosecutions in this area. In addition the number of prosecutions and subsequent prison terms being ordered by the court has increased. Some judges are still resistant to sending offenders to prison for property crimes, many appear more willing to impose prison terms when there are significant dollar losses and/or the offender has an extensive criminal history. Although more cases have been filed, the Unit still faces the challenge of getting businesses to report fraud. Many businesses do not want the publicity, do not want to send employees to court and do not want to be involved in situations where civil suits could become an issue. Therefore, the Unit continues training in this area.

The 28th Judicial District Community Corrections' Saint Francis Academy's Decision making, Responsibility, Assertiveness, Goals, Needs, Ethics and Trust (D.R.A.G.N.E.T.) program provided middle school youth with a comprehensive solution to reduce the temptation of experimenting with substances that can cause them harm and lead to more problematic behaviors. During the grant year, the D.R.A.G.N.E.T. program served 260 youth.

Kansas Bureau of Investigation's Kansas Meth Prevention Project (KMPP) sought to increase the capacity of key institutions in assisting local communities in addressing the methamphetamine problem; reduces the supply and demand of methamphetamine in Kansas; and increases awareness of methamphetamine in Kansas. During the grant period, 107 trainings were conducted with 3,645 participants, 309 technical assistance requested were fulfilled, 7,745 home visitor cards were distributed, 77,433 hits on the KMPP website, and 130 KMPP media appearances in newspaper, television, radio and newsletters. Grant year highlights include the significant expansion of the Drug Endangered Children efforts in Kansas; presentations at numerous state and national conferences; development and implementation of the Border County Initiative in response to increased activity from Oklahoma; assistance with the creation of a national Meth Watch program; education for retailers and customers regarding the new Kansas law requiring consumers to provide a photo id, their name and address prior to purchasing over-the-counter cold medicine containing ephedrine or pseudoephedrine; development of web-based meth training; assistances with an anhydrous ammonia tank lock pilot project in Shawnee County; and development of new resource materials including home visitor quick reference cards.

- Number of Offenders Receiving Treatment – 39
- Number of Offenders Discharged From Treatment – 17
- Number of Victims Served – 204
- Number of Individuals Trained – 2,703

Grant Project Highlights:

Douglas County District Attorney's Office developed and implemented the Kansas Prosecutors Case Management System (KPCMS) for county and district attorneys. The Kansas Prosecutor System is operational in Ellis, Finney, Leavenworth, Pottawatomie and Riley Counties. The system is fully functional in all Phase I applications and is capable of fully supporting all required functions in a prosecutors office. Staff at each county attorney's office with the KPCMS have been trained and are capable of using the system to perform their duties. Approximately 20 other counties are interested in installing the system in their prosecutor's office. The KPCMS Development Team continues to meet and plan Phase II of the grant.

Sedgwick County Sheriff's Department provided additional security measures in monitoring suicidal inmates. One of the cameras provided a great benefit to the Sheriff's Department. During the grant period, the serial killer known as "BTK" was apprehended. In order to supervise and protect this inmate one of the cameras was installed in a cell allowing the inmate to be monitored indirectly while in his cell and to prevent him from attempting suicide. Prior to having the camera, a full-time guard on overtime pay had to be scheduled.

Kansas Department of Administration implemented the Kansas Prosecutor System (KPS), expanded the Kansas Criminal Justice Information System (KCJIS) user base, completed FullCourt installation, enhanced the Kansas Adult Supervised Population Electronic Repository (KASPER) system and stabilized the KCJIS Committee after significant turnover. The number of KCJIS users has grown from 7,014 to 8,668 during the grant year, an increase of 23.58 percent. This is the largest percentage increase since its creation. Currently, 67 prosecutor system licenses are installed in five offices, the goal for the year was three. The number of livescan units has increased from 38 to 57 and the number of fingerprints received via livescan has increased 30 percent. The number of agencies transmitting KIBRS data electronically increased from 101 to 139 during the grant year. The Department of Administration provided law enforcement training to 1,501 individuals, which includes nine different courses.
